There Are Homes

Incre Are Homes

to be had at pre-war prices if you will drap the subway habit. Within easy commuting distance, with frequent and comfortable train service, are homes, built a few years age, that would cost nearly double to construct now. They are the real bargains togaday and call for decision and prompt action.
We have aiready done the "shopping" tofind them; they are for you to act upon, they sell because they are worth more than their price. See me about them—in particular a wonderful bargain at Plainfield for $5,800 en easy terms, a brick house in a wonderful location for $1,900; a besuitful home at East Orange for $14,000, and one at Nyack on the Hudson for $7,000 that is stealing.
